Blogging Profile:

I write for the number one newspaper in Armenia, aravot.am, in eastern Armenian, which is different from Western Armenian, Aravot publishes them both in print and web version

I also write in Western Armenian for darperag21.net, a Lebanese Armenian web site in the Armenian Diaspora, from Lebanon, where I am originally from

In addition, I write for several Lebanese Web sites), for www.lebanese-forces.com , the official web site of the Lebanese forces political party, www.lebanesepolitico.com, and for akhbaralbalad.com and previously on enooma.com.

I write for these websites both in Arabic and English

I also write for my own websites, www.socialist-armenia.org and www.national-armenia.org , on this link: <https://www.socialist-armenia.org/Armenian-blog-Lebanese-politics/Nationalism/Socialism/Social-Justice>, most of the articles are found, including my articles written in English

I also do video interviews for my own youtube channel, and the official youtube channel of the Armenian Political party, the Pro-western National Democratic Axis, so I participate in both parts of the process, mostly I am the one who hosts guests either remotely or face to face and interview them, but sometimes I am the one who gets interviewed, as a blogger

I write about almost every kind of topic ranging from politics, to sports, information technology, social issues and issues concerning the Lebanese and Armenian society, I consider myself a free style blogger
